

ABSOLENT GROUP STRENGTHENS GROUP MANAGEMENT

Absolent Group AB has strengthened its Group Management with a new Head of Operational Excellence that will join the company at the latest on September 1st 2020.

As part of Absolent Group's ambition to lead the development within industrial air cleaning we have decided to add a new role as Head of Operational Excellence to the Group Management team with the mission to make Absolent Group best in class when it comes to quality, efficiency and flexibility. Absolent Group has successfully been able to recruit Johan Wollin to the position starting no later than September 1st.

Johan has a deep and wide experience from driving Operational Excellence at Volvo CE, Autoliv, and not the least, Toyota. In addition, Johan has a PhD in Mechanical Engineering and an MBA.

"We are very proud of that Johan has decided to take the next step of his career with us at Absolent. Johan is prominent when it comes to both theoretical and practical knowledge of building performance culture, management systems, tools and methodologies for developing a company. We have been looking for a long time for the right candidate with the right craftsmanship on all levels and are convinced that Johan is the right person. We welcome Johan to the Absolent family and look forward to taking Absolent Group to the next level together", says Axel Berntsson, CEO Absolent Group

The Group Management will as per September 1st consist of:

Axel Berntsson, CEO
James Stansfield, Vice President
Anna Åkerblad, CFO
Jan Berndtsson, CTO
Mattias Nurman, CIO
Johan Wollin, Head of Operational Excellence
